

Arkadiusz Kustra Ph.D, Associate Professor in Department of Economics and Management in the Industry, Faculty of Mining and Geoengineering, at AGH University of Science and Technology in Krakow, Poland.

He is lecturer with experience in workshops in the range of economics in mining, finance of mining companies, financial estimation of extractive investment projects, controlling and managerial accounting in enterprises.

His science interests focus managerial accounting, finance of enterprises and production controlling in the light of sustainability development. Particularly, his completed projects concentrate on economics, social and environmental aspects of mining activity in life cycle.

He participated as a member of the following organization: Mining Economics and Organization in Committee of Mining of the Polish Academy of Sciences, the Scientific Council in Polish Geological Institute National Research Institute. He was involved in many studies related to strategic management for Polish mining companies.

Currently, Arkadiusz Kustra is Vice Dean, Faculty of Mining and Geoengineering at AGH.